

MOTORISTS WITHOUT TAGS FACE ARREST

Maryland Authorities Will Insist on Letter of the Law Being Carried Out.

Washington motorists who have been told to believe they would be allowed two weeks' grace in which to obtain Maryland licenses for 1915 will likely find themselves in trouble if they venture into Maryland without a 1915 tag attached to their machine. Deputy Motor Commissioner G. G. Coale, who issues licenses to Washington motorists, today stated no grace had been officially declared and he advised automobile owners to lose no time in taking out the identification tags if they desired to drive in Maryland.

Await Court Decision.
While more than 700 of the tags had been issued up to the time of closing last night of Deputy Commissioner Coale's office in the Metropolitan building, it is known that many motorists have decided to await the Supreme Court decision in the Hendrick case before taking out licenses. This decision possibly may be rendered tomorrow or within the next few weeks.

It was argued in November and involves the constitutionality of the Maryland automobile law which charges a license fee to motorists of the District of Columbia, and requiring reciprocal rights to motorists of the States.

Have Taken Out Tags.

Among those who have taken out license tags within the last few days are Gen. John A. Johnston, former District Commissioner; B. P. Saul, George P. Eustis, James S. Harlan, of the Interstate Commerce Commission; Col. R. M. Thompson, William Lyles Offutt, Chevy Chase, Md.; Thomas E. (Robertson), Chevy Chase, Md.; Col. Alexander Rodgers, Dr. Charles W. Richardson, Rudolph Kaufmann, Robert S. Woodward, Robert A. Cassell, Thomas E. Hampton, Hattie Parker Neale, Charles I. Corby, William S. Corby and Robert L. Corby, Chevy Chase, Md.; J. B. Hayes, of the White House; Andrew Peters, James B. Glimmer, Walter G. Dunlop, Dr. Vernon H. Dyson, George M. Oyster, Jr., Isaac B. Rich, Dr. Charles E. Hill, of the Maryland Agricultural College, College Park, Md.; John Miller, Chevy Chase, Md.; Mrs. George Y. Wheeler, Dr. W. C. Chadwick, Armistead Peter, Jr., E. J. Murphy, Chevy Chase, Md.; J. Philip Herrmann, Herbert Boehm, John Smith, Chevy Chase, Md.; A. G. McClintock, G. H. Chase, W. W. Georges, G. W. Goldsmith, W. H. H. Allen, Jr., Chevy Chase, Md. and James L. Parsons, Chevy Chase, Md. Automobile licenses were also issued to the Washington-Virginia Railway Company, four to George M. Oyster, Jr. fifteen to the Auto Livery Company, five to the Federal Inter-City Railway, ten to the Terminal Taxicab Company, two to House & Herrmann, seven to Corby Baking Company, Star Laundry Company, and the Potomac Electric Power Company.

DEBUTANTE SLOUCH HAS SLINKED OUT

With Advent of Militarism the Caved Chest Has Disappeared—Gold Braid Is Fad.

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 2.—"The slinker slouch" has slinked its last slouch, or is about to do so. Likewise exit the debutante slouch or slouch—which is it? The girl of the ensuing year is to be erect and straight, in harmony with the slightly military suggestions that will predominate women's styles. Also the low neck, the peek-a-boo waist and the exposed throat will soon be things of the long ago. Lovely woman will come to suffer a cold neck just in order to be in style.

To be or not to be, referring to high collars, will be one of the most interesting points in the coming spring fashions for women to consider. Military styles, as represented by flat brim and brass buttons, have as yet had no great vogue in America, but we can hardly expect to escape the military influence entirely, so this influence is being felt more in the gradual development of the high neck effects, and the elimination of the diaphanous or peek-a-boo waists that have so scandalized the fashion world in seasons until we have felt that our morals were tottering if not our brains. This coming season will see a well clothed—hence in our right minds—from the loins of our ears to the tips of our shoes.

The Model collar has already disappeared and the fluffy rills that took its place are also disappearing. Within the straight line of the collar that every coat of this season's make must have is a high collar, which collar is attached to the removable collar of lace, net or chiffon, to be worn with all styles of dress or costume. The ruffles of these collars should be finished with a tiny full or ruche of fine lace or net, and will be found most becoming, as the old age lines which make their first appearance in the neck are the most difficult to disguise. A woman's collar is also one of the three essential points of costume that requires skill in handling, and reflects the exquisite grooming that the predominant note of all military dress.

This threatened influx of militarism brings with it one feature over which we can all rejoice. It has thrown the slinker slouch into the discard and brought into fashion its opposite, the figure that is the ideal heritage of our twentieth century.

EMBASSY A MUSEUM IN CONSTANTINOPLE

By HENRY WOOD.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 10.—(Mailed from Salonica to avoid Turkish censorship).—The United States embassy here is today one of the greatest all-around art galleries and museums in existence. When Turkey declared war the interests of seven nations were turned over to Ambassador Morgenthau. They were England, France, Belgium, Serbia, Russia, Switzerland and the Argentine Republic. The representatives in Constantinople of the warring powers, fearing confiscation of their property, moved all of their effects to the American embassy. Their example was followed by leading citizens before they left to places of safety. And all, excepting those who wanted to turn over money in fear that the local banks would be looted, were accommodated by Ambassador Morgenthau. Here are a few of the things that the ambassador and Mrs. Morgenthau have:
Magnificent collection of butterflies, practically priceless, owned by the representative of the London Times.
Two pedigreed Angora cats, property of the wife of the Russian ambassador.
Pedigreed English bulldog from the French embassy.
Priceless Gobelin tapestries from the French embassy.
The Russian ambassador's picture collection.
No wonderful is the collection that a committee of Turkish women asked Mrs. Morgenthau if she would not exhibit them all a day or so each week, charging an admission fee to be turned over to the Turkish Red Cross. Out of a sense of delicacy to the owners, Mrs. Morgenthau was forced to refuse but she saved the refusal with a donation of 100 night shirts for Turkish hospital patients.

Girl of Seventeen Weds Her Sweetheart in Jail
SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Jan. 3.—Rather than wait till her sweetheart's term in the county jail had expired, Miss Sarah Harris, seventeen, was married in the recorder's office at the court house, to Harrison Gregory.
Gregory is serving out a sentence of six months in the county jail on a charge of violating the local option law. After the ceremony Gregory was led back to his cell, accompanied by his wife, who was permitted by the jailer to converse with him for a short time.

GAVE M'MANIGAL $1,000 FOR HIS EXILE

Los Angeles District Attorney Declares Dynamiter Was Urged to Leave Country.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 3.—When Otis McManigal, self-confessed dynamiter, was released from the county jail in November, 1913 he received $1,000 and John D. Fredericks, district attorney, with which to leave the country. McManigal was responsible largely for the conviction of the McNamara brothers on a charge of murder in connection with the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building.
Fredericks said the money given McManigal had been paid out of the $5,000 fund of $5,000, alleged to have been gathered by Bert Franklin, a detective, for the purpose of bribing jurors during the trial. This money was seized by the district attorney.
Fredericks' statement accompanied an itemized account of the expenditure of $2,475.48 of the bribe fund for secret service work. The board of supervisors has been asked to reimburse the bribe fund in that sum and then determine by court proceedings to what use the entire amount shall be put.
McManigal, since his release, has at various times, been reported in South America, the Orient and in Europe.
